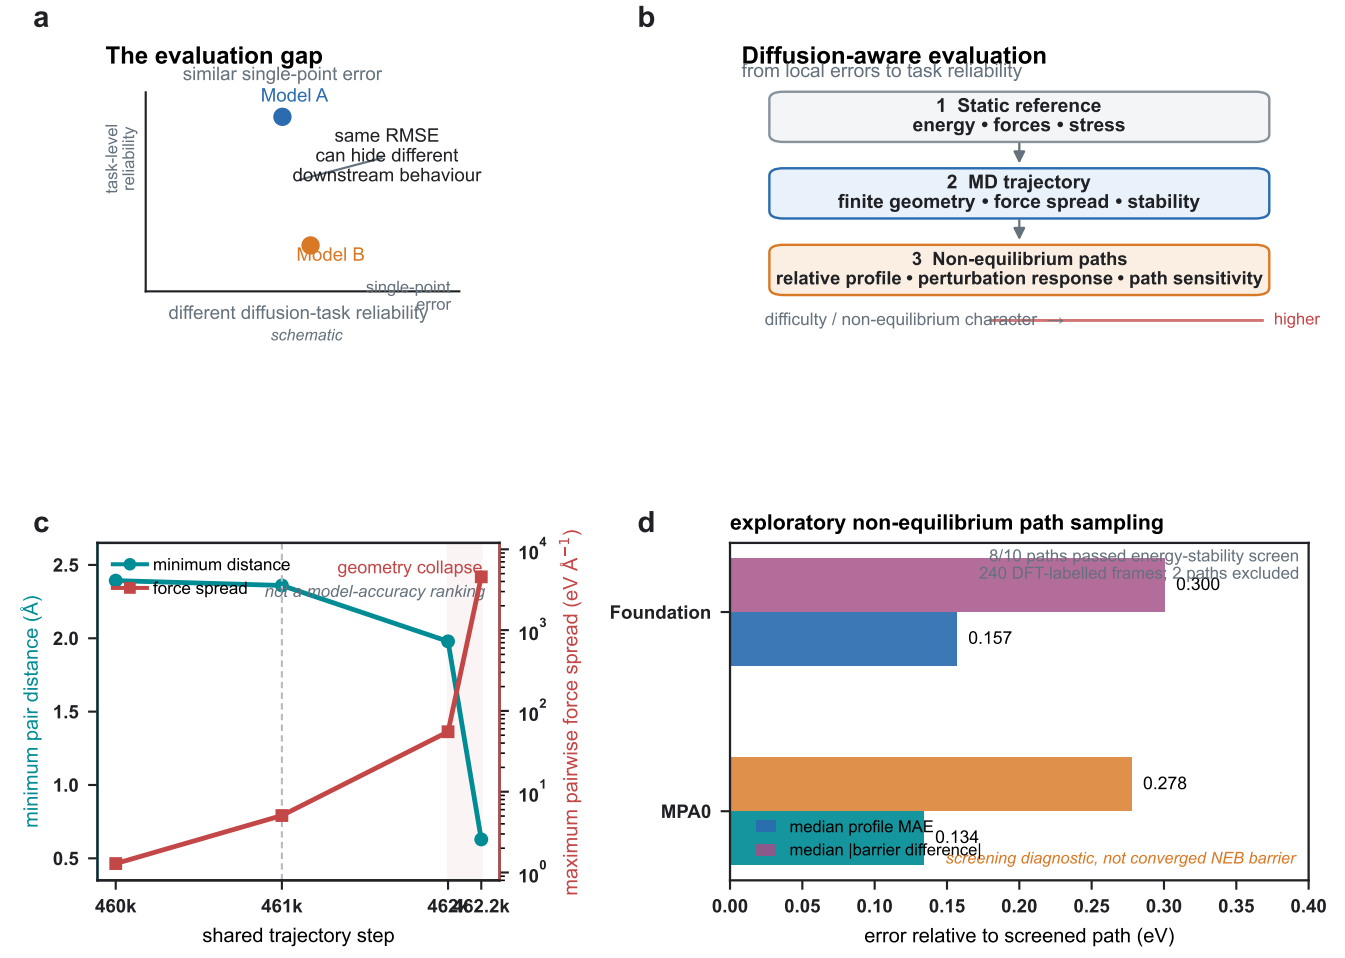
Diffusion-aware evaluation exposes model differences hidden by single-point errors


A benchmark should test the dynamical and path-level regimes in which a machine-learning potential is used.