

All panels show model-internal sensitivity or geometric disagreement; no cross-method total-energy subtraction is used.